

Cultural Intelligence (CQ): Learning and Embracing[®]

Individualized Training

This course is designed to assess the CQ of each learner. Participants will receive personalized and group instruction for improving their CQ.

Evidence Based

Scholar / Practitioner approach to embracing and improving CQ within the organization. Prior examples and research will be reviewed to assist the learner.

TRAINING OBJECTIVES

Designed to educate and assist the learner with real examples of culturally intelligent (CQ) activities.

Course is highly interactive and embraces the learner's individual approach to understanding CQ.

UNIQUE APPROACH

Evidence-based curriculum focused on understanding the power of being culturally intelligent (CQ).

Instruction embraces the art of difference while illuminating the strength of evidence based CQ research.

OrgScienceSM

INSTRUCTOR

DR. RON SHEFFIELD

LEADERSHIP PROFESSOR,
NATIVE AMERICAN - QUECHAN
TRIBE OF FORT YUMA ARIZONA

Dr. Sheffield is a certified Six Sigma Blackbelt (SSBB) and certified Project Management Professional (P.M.P.). He is a lecturer at Christopher Newport University and The George Washington University, and member of an international research team focused on global business culture.

Ron's doctoral research is titled, "The Influence of Language on Culture and Identity: Resurgence of the Quechan Native American Tribal Language" and was conducted on his Tribal reservation in Yuma, Arizona.